International Classroom

Each year, around 15% of the MF class consists of international students coming from a diverse range of countries including Canada, France, Germany, Iceland, Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, UK, and the United States of America.

International Exchange

During the two years at SAIF MF, you will also have the opportunity to study abroad for a semester at one of our partner schools all over the world.

International Module

International Module (IM) is an opportunity for students to observe finance in action in an international context by moving the classroom to some of the most dynamic economies in the world. LIVE Learning Center

SAIF LIVE Learning Center is a department in SAIF that offers unique and innovative experience of LIVE Learning to students by carefully-designed practicum courses and other supporting experiences. LIVE stands for “Learning by Integrated Vocational Experience”, and it aims to complete each student's education through real-world, real-time projects and events.

There are three LIVE Learning courses currently run by LIVE Learning Center offered to MF students: LIVE FI, Consulting Company and Innovation Finance Lab. Each one of them has its uniqueness and attractiveness, while the concept and ultimate goal stay highly the same: to inspire students to learn and solve actual problems by taking actions.

To foster innovation in the real-economy by providing consulting services to entrepreneurs and start-ups, SAIF started the interaction with Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 2012. It is not only one of the top universities worldwide, but also the trailblazer and now a leader in Action Learning. This international interaction bred Consulting Company: MIT China Lab. During the past 3 years, Consulting Company has provided 15 projects to 11 MF students, 15 MBA students, and 26 MIT Sloan students. Each project is a three-months, hands-on immersion experience, led by a mentor generally from a start-up or small business.

Started in 2010, LIVE FI supports innovation in financial services and best practices through engagement with leading enterprises. It is primarily an MF Year 2 required course. During the past 6 years, this course has provided over 50 projects to over 200 MF students. Each project lasts for 7 weeks and is led by mentors from executive level of large financial institutions and enterprises.

In 2015, after years of practice and observation, we developed Innovation Finance Lab, a course based on the fusion of SAIF students' demands and the advantages that LIVE FI and Consulting Company have. It intends to support innovation through value-adding financing and incubation, including venture capital, accelerators, and financial leasing companies. These will be joint MF/MBA projects provided by leading venture capital, private equity, and other companies providing financing for innovation in the private sector.

In addition to the courses, LIVE Learning Center is also determined to support innovation and critical assessment through non-course student competitions and conferences. Students are encouraged to get involved in competitions and challenges on national or international levels to learn and grow from a different perspective and become a true leader with the mind of entrepreneurship and innovation.

SAIF has an impressive reputation in China and it appeals to those who aim for a high-level and recognized education in this country. China is a country full of opportunities but truly far from the West in terms of formal and informal culture - life in China is full of surprises. As someone willing to keep on working closely with China throughout my career, I am glad I took this opportunity to spend two years at SAIF for my first steps in the Middle Kingdom.

Indeed, at SAIF, teamwork is a major and highly valued part of the training. It gave me the chance to work hand in hand with China's future leaders, thus gaining a deeper understanding of their way of thinking along with valuable connections for the future. I have also been able to improve my Chinese skills thanks to my classmates. This year, I will go one step further since I choose to attend courses taught in Chinese.

Focusing mainly on corporate finance, SAIF also provides an introduction to quantitative finance. It is a demanding program during which professors, all with outstanding academic records, are available for further discussion with students. My classmates are also source of valuable insights: most acquired on the ground an excellent knowledge of the financial industry. More importantly, I have been able to build some life-lasting friendships here at SAIF.

Matthias Keschka

SAIF MF2014 student

Nationality: Germany

Undergraduate: Mannheim University, Economics

Coming from Mannheim University which is the No.1 business school in Germany with a Bachelor Degree in Economics, I found the Master of Finance program at SAIF the most suitable for me to advance my educational and professional education with focus on China and Asia. It is a challenging program which is quite time consuming. It's difficult to cope with everything individually. I try to have regular meetings with my very bright class mates in order to accomplish tasks utilizing the bright talents around me. So far I have learned a lot about finance, about China and people from different backgrounds, and how to be more effective. SAIF has also taught me how to prioritize my items and to make difficult compromises. I strongly believe that this MF program will excel me to new levels.

Jonathan Hammond

SAIF MF2014 student

Nationality: Canadian

Undergraduate: University of Toronto, Management

Upon my arrival in Shanghai I was greeted with open arms from the SAIF staff and my future colleagues. That was day 1, fast forward to today and I can't begin to recount my life experiences at SAIF! From constant weekly ELSA activities ranging from hospitality speakers, corporate executives all the way to connoisseurs fine tuning our knowledge of wines preparing us for the classiest of business occasions.

SAIF has been an experience as an international student that will be marked with unforgettable experiences. I have classmates who constantly are eager to welcome me into their daily Chinese lives. I consider myself extremely fortunate to have the most intelligent academic students from around China as my classmates who consistently challenge me to perform to my upmost potential.

Winson Cao

SAIF MF2013 student

Nationality: Chinese

Undergraduate: Fudan University, Applied Mathematics

SAIF LIVE is the most valuable course I took at SAIF. We were encouraged to discover a wide range of fascinating topics taught by Professor Charles Chang along with other project leaders. The best part was that they were true leaders in the financial industry, each with a unique perspective and an individual interpretation of a particular field of financial practice. I joined the project led by Victor Yan, Managing Director at Standard Chartered Bank, who, together with Professor Chang, instructed us to develop profitable trading strategies in the real world. Our critical thinking and analytical skills were greatly improved thanks to their decades of experience in the global markets.
