STUDENT TESTIMONIALS

“Finland has a very strong business atmosphere, which also drives the education of business majors. The exchange module gave me a deeper understanding of digital initiatives from an international perspective, as well as close contact with leading companies in the digital field, preparing me well for a future career in digital management of enterprises.”

“There are some concepts we keep mentioning, but never thought carefully about its definition, for example: innovation. Today the professor from Columbia University interpreted what innovation is, its classification and practice in a layered way. He also used typical cases in the industry to give examples and analysis. At the same time, combined with my own work experience, when designing products, I should first look for customer needs and then think about what innovative solutions to use. The failure rate is very high if you design a product first and then test it in the market. As a result, the professor gave me a new look and in-depth understanding of innovation.”
